BARI - ITALY

Link Association is a non-profit organization based in Altamura (Italy), active since 2003 in the fields of youth work, non-formal education, and international mobility. Its mission is to foster active citizenship, social inclusion, and intercultural dialogue, with a strong focus on empowering young people through creative and participatory approaches. Link manages the community space "Agorateca", a public library transformed into a hub for cultural, educational, and environmental initiatives. The association is Erasmus+ accredited in the youth sector and actively involved in European programmes such as Erasmus+ and the European Solidarity Corps, promoting exchanges, training, volunteering, and inclusion projects. Link collaborates with schools, local authorities, and international partners to create opportunities for learning and engagement at local and European levels. Its work combines arts, sustainability, and community development to inspire positive social change.

Link has been promoting volunteer opportunities since 2003, both sending volunteers abroad and hosting them. It hosts gardening activities, woodworking, event organization, community outreach, and much more.

Similarly, Link is one of Italy's leading organizations for implementing youth exchange and youth worker mobility projects. In recent years in particular, Link has offered non-formal education opportunities through music, theater, group manual work, and by addressing numerous issues of significance to local youth communities.

IN&OUT is an opportunity to meet quality partners with whom to establish partnerships and create new projects for young people, also in other fields.

WHAT

The current Erasmus+ programme is nearing its end, while discussions are underway in Europe about the new programme for 2028–2035.

Where do we currently stand with mobility projects? With inclusion? With the acquisition and validation of competences?

Since 2021, thanks to our accreditation, Link has developed several projects, offering the opportunity for hundreds of young people and youth workers to have an experience abroad. There is still much to be done in the final biennium 2026–2027, and we cannot achieve it without our partners.

That's why, with IN&OUT, we intend to invite the organisations we have collaborated with over the years, along with some "new entries," to strengthen both the quantity and quality of European mobility projects, within both the Erasmus+ framework and the European Solidarity Corps.

CAMPUS

IN&OUT is a Contact Making Seminar aimed at European youth organisations that promote mobility. The project is organised in collaboration with Campus, the most important student fair in Southern Italy, which attracts around 40,000 students and has, for 35 years, served as a bridge between schools and businesses — fostering dialogue between education, employment, and the private sector and, ...and, this year, between young people and European volunteering youth organizations.

IN&OUT aims not only to strengthen relationships and cooperation among the participating youth organisations, but also to offer them the opportunity to connect directly with young people, teachers, and other stakeholders.

IN&OUT

The participating organisations will have the opportunity to engage in dialogue with potential host organisations for volunteers, exchanges, or other youth projects, establishing connections with schools, teachers, and — above all — young people.

Link is committed to supporting local organisations interested in taking on this role, by offering guidance and support for accreditation and training for newcomer organizations.

The European organizations participating in IN&OUT will have the opportunity to present their projects (Erasmus+ or ESC) directly to the visitors attending the orientation fair (students, teachers and educational institutions), which will take place in Bari from December 10 to 12.

WHERE

The In&Out project will take place in Bari. The main workplace will be at the Fiera del Levante, where the Campus activities will be held.

Participants will be accommodated at the Residence Hotel Moderno, located on Via Carafa 20, in triple rooms, where breakfast will also be provided.

Lunches and dinners will be organized at various restaurants around the city.

WHO

Around 20 youth workers from various European organizations will take part in the project.

Priority will be given to organizations with which Link has already established partnerships, but there will also be room for new organizations interested in starting a collaboration.

Each organization will be able to nominate one experienced representative—with decision-making capacity—in the management of ESC and/or Erasmus+ projects.

A second participant may be accepted if the organization wishes to involve both an ESC and an Erasmus+ representative.

The project is open exclusively to organizations from partner countries.
