PROJECT DETAILS

What will the tc look like?

Going beyond theory, the training course is highly participatory and practice-oriented. Participants will take part in interactive exercises, group work, and hands-on workshops that support the development of practical competences for designing and implementing intercultural learning activities. Special focus will be placed on developing local-level initiatives that promote dialogue, inclusion, and active participation within diverse communities. By the end of the course, participants will have strengthened their facilitation skills, developed concrete activity concepts, and gained tools and strategies to transfer intercultural learning into their everyday youth work practice.

The training course is grounded in non-formal education principles and experiential learning approaches.

The training course is developed in line with Youth Goal 3: Inclusive Societies and contributes to:

1. Ensuring that all marginalised young people have equal access to formal and non-formal learning environments, addressing all the dimensions of inclusion.
2. Strengthening the capacities of educators to work with marginalised young people.
3. Ensuring that marginalised young people are participating in all decision-making processes and are key players, particularly in processes concerning their own rights, wellbeing and interests.

PROJECT DETAILS

The activity is rooted in Youth Goal #3:
Inclusive Societies

It contributes to:

1. Enable and ensure the inclusion of all young people in society.
2. Provide more spaces, opportunities, resources and programmes to foster dialogue and social cohesion, to face discrimination and segregation

PROJECT DETAILS

Further goals of the project

1. To deepen participants' understanding of diversity, identity, power, privilege, stereotypes, prejudices, and discrimination, and their impact on learning processes and participation in youth work contexts.

2. To strengthen participants' knowledge of intercultural learning, including key concepts, models, and theories, and their relevance for creating inclusive and reflective youth work practices.

3. To develop participants' competences in facilitating intercultural learning and dialogue, with a particular focus on safe(r) learning spaces, conflict-sensitive approaches, and ethical facilitation.

4. To equip participants with practical tools and methods for designing meaningful intercultural learning processes, based on non-formal education and experiential learning principles.
