Asociația Valori Educaționale Nonformale (VEN) promotes the development of soft skills in youth through interactive and non-formal learning methods. We focus on helping young people communicate effectively, work collaboratively in teams, think critically and solve problems, manage their time and resources efficiently, and develop leadership and decision-making skills. By engaging in these activities, participants gain practical experience that strengthens their personal and professional growth, preparing them for future challenges and active participation in their communities.
