THE YOUTH AND ELDERS PROJECT

If you are a change maker at heart, an emergent elder or a youth on the verge of stepping into your full potential - sail with us as we map the uncharted territory of our culture.

Join us on a voyage of discovery to explore and clarify the unique and diverse value in being human in all stages of life; honoring that only by combining the push for change with the wisdom of maturity can we tackle the challenges of our time.

From June 10th to 17th, 2012 an intergenerational group of 30 change makers will set sail on a Tall Ship in the Baltic Sea. Onboard the ship will be a diverse group of people, ready to support each other to collectively illuminate a better future. By asking fundamental questions about our time, we will reach out into the world and spark the imagination across communities, generations, cultures and countries.

Over the course of one week, facilitated by workshops, deep conversations and the movement of the sea, the group will explore the notion of 'cultural maturity' in an era of global change and in the quest for a more sustainable way forward for our societies.

Everyone joining this voyage will participate in co-creating a new paradigm for cultural development.

You can also help get this project out to sea by:

Your contribution will help seed new projects, new collaborations and new relationships which will be born through the fusion of elder perspectives and skills-mentoring with the fire and idealism of youth in a shared quest for a healthier and happier world.

Re-kindling the age-old bond between youth and elders.
