WHY THIS TRAINING COURSE?

Schools and other educational institutions are implementing different activities outside their formal curriculum and bringing non-formal education methodology in their work everyday. The main aim of all of these activities is to raise pupils' awareness on different issues and making them active citizens. One of the activities includes volunteering, where teachers and other staff work with pupils to understand the importance of volunteering as a way to help others, promote solidarity and gain competences important for future personal and professional life.

Even though schools have significant experience in volunteering on the national and local level, schools around Europe are still not included in international volunteering enough. On the other hand, in this challenging time of COVID-19 pandemics there are big challenges for teachers and schools. Therefore, we are organising an international training course “Let’s volunteer!”, whose main aim is to empower schools and other educational institutions to include international volunteers in their everyday work.

IF YOUR INSTITUTION:

- has significant experience with implementing volunteering clubs and volunteering in your school in general;
- sees potential to include international volunteers in your school in order to have positive benefits for your school and wider local community;
- wants to gain new knowledge in the field of international volunteering, with strong focus on European Solidarity Corps,
- wants to share experience, hear others' experiences, get inspired and have AHA! moments!

THEN THIS TRAINING COURSE IS FOR YOU!
