

NOW - Create a Good World for Future Generations

International training for youth workers and activists on sustainability and climate justice

Call for participants

Daliowa, Beskid Niski, Poland, 29.08.-04.09.2022

Who?

Up to 28 activists, youth leaders, youth workers, trainers, educators, teachers and facilitators from Poland, Germany and Moldova who are interested in education for sustainable development and search for ideas how to address topics of sustainability and climate justice in their everyday work with young people. We invite also people from Ukraine and other countries who are currently staying in Moldova, Poland and Germany. Working language is English (medium language skills are enough to participate).

What? Content and topics:

- theories of sustainability and sustainable economy
- education for sustainable development - methods and insights
- steps towards everyday sustainability on personal and community level
- community projects on sustainability
- resilience in times of crisis
- dialogue and nonviolent activism

How? About the training and methods:

Training is designed and facilitated by practitioners and trainers from three countries. We create a space for learning and reflection where you can learn from each other through participatory methods. The basis of our approach is non formal education and learning by doing. During the training you will experience diverse methods and activities and have the space to share your thoughts, experiences and expertise.

When and where? About the venue:

Our training lasts from 29th of August till 4th of September 2022 (28th is a travelling day). It will take place in the village Daliowa in Beskid Niski - the wildest mountain range in Poland on the borders with Slovakia.

We will be hosted at "Dzikie Wino" - a guest house and training place which is run by local social entrepreneurship. Participants will be accommodated in rooms shared with other persons. We will provide local vegetarian/vegan food during the training.

About us:

Villa Fohrde (Germany) - Villa Fohrde is a certified sustainable educational house in Brandenburg and offers seminars, trainings and projects around civic education, culture and sustainability. Since its foundation in 1991, the main concern has been the promotion of a constructive and respectful interaction of people with themselves as well as with their social and natural environment. Villa Fohrde is active in the rural area as an educational and cultural actor and would like to promote the participation of young people, especially in structurally weak areas.

Galician Foundation of Development and Education (Poland) - Our aims are to support active citizenship and develop competences needed for participation and being active citizens of local communities among young people. We support grassroots and youth-led initiatives. We create spaces where dialogue and cooperation is possible over differences and where diversity is a resource. We work in Poland and Georgia and co-create international projects and platforms for exchange.

EcoVisio (Moldova) is a grassroots NGO from Moldova. We envision Moldova and its neighbours as a model region of empowered society, healthy environment and vigorous, fair economy.

We are dedicated to realizing the full potential of our region as a model of sustainable development. To this end we run educational and empowerment programs, bring together key actors and foster ecological and social innovation. We promote active citizenship, environmental and economic resilience, social entrepreneurship and rural development by nurturing a growing community of changemakers in Moldova. Our mission is to bring this future as close as possible to the present, through educational activities, the theoretical and practical promotion of sustainable living, the creation and development of communities, and the support of initiatives that share our vision.

The project “Now – Create a Good World for Future Generations” is realised by Villa Fohrde in cooperation with Galicyjska Fundacja Rozwój i Edukacja and EcoVisio and funded by Erasmus+.
