

THIS TRAINING IS PERFECT FOR YOU!

If you are interested in gaining a deeper understanding of the experiential learning cycle and its significance in youth work!

If you are eager to integrate the steps of the experiential cycle into your work with youth!

THE MAIN GOAL OF THE PROJECT

To enhance the quality of youth work by equipping youth workers (coordinators, facilitators, mentors, educators, teachers, etc.) with competencies in the experiential learning process. The aim is to build capacity among youth organizations to deliver high-quality educational programs in their communities and enhance the learning outcomes for young people participating in their activities.

WHY THIS TRAINING IS NEEDED?

Young people today have lots of chances to get involved in different groups and projects, both locally nationally and internationally. They can be volunteers, take part in workshops, work directly with various creative methods, or even taking an active role in the life of their communities.

All these experiences help them to develop useful skills and competencies. For such learning to happen at a high level is important for young people to be guided through proper experiential learning cycles.

This is a framework that outlines the process through which individuals learn from their experiences.

Our team has been working in youth field for years and we've seen the need to help youth workers improve in guiding young people through these experiential learning cycles.
