What are your organization's aims, objectives and principles? (2.375 characters)

Pro.M.E.T.EU.S., a non-profit cultural association based in central Italy, Viterbo, is driven by a commitment to fostering a world that is more interconnected and inclusive. With its under-35 founders experienced in international and European exchanges, the organization operates without ethnic, ideological, or confessional distinctions. Rooted in the principles of equality, human rights, rule of law, and democracy, Pro.M.E.T.EU.S. upholds a multifaceted mission geared towards catalyzing social and cultural growth.

Our primary aim is to nurture environmental sustainability and active participation in democratic processes. We place a significant emphasis on respecting diversity and cultivating artistic and entrepreneurial talents. This endeavor encompasses a broad spectrum of culture, including the preservation and understanding of local, regional, and European traditions.

At the core of Pro.M.E.T.EU.S.'s philosophy are two core beliefs. Firstly, in our increasingly interconnected world, collaboration is key. We believe in forging networks across Europe to address social and economic challenges. Secondly, we recognize that true integration of diverse cultures requires a deep appreciation and understanding of one's own culture and traditions. In line with this belief, we actively encourage the exchange of various European cultures, beginning with the rediscovery of local ones.

Our objectives extend to aiding individuals, especially youth and adults, in realizing their potential and ambitions. This is crucial for human, personal, and professional development, allowing them to effectively engage in modern society. To achieve these goals, Pro.M.E.T.EU.S. engages in a range of activities including project design, coordination, research, study, training, and organizing cultural events and training courses at local, regional, national, and European levels.

Furthermore, we are dedicated to disseminating information about initiatives and opportunities promoted by the European Union. This is part of our effort to foster political unity, economic and social development, and cooperation among member states.

We are a movement that inspires change and progress across various facets of society. Our aims, objectives, and principles are reflective of our commitment to creating a more educated, sustainable, and culturally rich world.
