Background and experience

BAC Slovakia is a newly founded informal group with a focus on improving European youth's entrepreneurial, leadership, soft skills, civic engagement, critical thinking, and media literacy.

We aim to create strong international networks of like-minded people who work hard on themselves, want to inspire others, and improve society.

Group members have rich experience with Erasmus projects, event-organizing, and civic participation. Throughout their studies and professional lives, they've gained theoretical and practical knowledge and expertise in the fields of business, marketing, event management, or soft skills.

BAC Slovakia has so far successfully implemented two Youth Exchanges: MediaMatrix and EntrepreYouth.

The MediaMatrix: Media Literacy and Active Citizenship youth exchange enhanced media literacy and civic engagement among European youth. Participants improved their ability to distinguish facts from opinions, verify sources, and identify misinformation, fostering responsible media consumption and creation. The project also succeeded in increasing their participation in democratic processes, with participants reporting a stronger understanding of democratic values and systems. The interactive workshops and non-formal learning sessions facilitated open discussions, critical thinking, and intercultural exchange.

The youth exchange EntrepreYouth: Join the World of Entrepreneurship successfully developed key entrepreneurship and soft skills among European youth, particularly focusing on participants from newer EU member states. It addressed gaps in traditional education, specifically in real-world business, networking, and leadership skills. Through interactive workshops and non-formal learning methods, participants gained confidence in areas like public speaking, pitching ideas, financial literacy, and teamwork.

Martin Mikloš, the group's President, has rich experience regarding civic engagement, such as participating in school parliament, the local election committee, and multiple civic-related competitions. He graduated in political science, focusing on political marketing and communication, as well as journalism. He works as a news reporter and social media manager, broadening his assets in this field.

Martin has also considerable business-related experience, such as confounding and leading a startup project, LogoR, aimed at helping people with rhotacism, which won several awards at the JA Slovakia student company exposition and a grant from the startup accelerator Rozbiehator.

He successfully organized multiple sports and entertainment events in the Czech Republic and Slovakia.

In his bachelor studies, he specialized in political marketing and campaigns, which equips him with knowledge in marketing, soft skills, and leadership-related areas. He currently continues his master's degree in business and management in Prague, increasing his competences in this field.

He participated in more than fifteen Youth Exchanges and Training courses, mostly as a group leader, and besides working in BAC Slovakia, he co-organized a successful YE related to ecology as a member of EBY Slovakia.

Martin Lucký, the Vice-President, studies international business in the Netherlands. At his previous school, he participated in school parliament, broadening his experience in civic engagement. In his studies, he specializes in all business aspects, such as marketing, sales, research, etc., providing him with all of the critical tools to start a business himself.

Martin is always looking for new business opportunities and challenges that could widen his skill set. He started his own e-shop focused on reselling clothes, organized various sports tournaments and cultural events, and participated in six youth exchanges and training courses.

Dominik Ufnár, studies economics, finance, and management in Prague. His studies give him solid predispositions for a wide range of skills and knowledge in this area. He is responsible for finance-related issues in the group.

Further, Dominik also has practical experience with marketing and sales. He promoted and organized multiple entertainment and sports events under his own brand, covering all aspects of planning, advertising and accounting. He also gained experience from projects as a participant, as he was part of a few youth exchange projects and one business-related summer school in Bucharest.

Matúš Molnár, studies Innovation & Business program at Tiimiakatemia Global Ltd. in Prague. His program represents a new modern education system, originally from Finland, that focuses primarily on practical objectives (creating your own business, etc.). As a part of a school project, he became a part of a creative agency based in Prague, which works with many relevant companies and entrepreneurs.

However, his main focus and expertise are sales and marketing. He was a part of many successful business projects, which were led by successful businessmen, from whom he gained invaluable experience. Currently, Matúš is working as a sales intern for a big company. He also participated in Bucharest Summer University.
