About Us

In 2012, Bursa Health Workers Association was established as BUSAD, and for eight years, it has been the social side of health workers, caring for health workers in every field, giving importance to youth work and aiming to ensure the development of young people in personal, cultural and social fields. The story of a unique organisation that brings young people and healthcare professionals together at common points and makes young people and healthcare professionals feel special is a journey that excites us all.

About Us

History Turkey's Association TÜSÇAD, which was established in November 2019 in order to create representative offices and open branches around the world and to announce its vision mission to the world, has become an idol in association with its structure that embraces everyone. Currently, there are approximately 8 branches in Turkey. Although its fields of activity are very wide, TÜSÇAD is a non-governmental organisation that has gained the appreciation of everyone with its structure that can walk upright on its own spine, does not owe anyone a diet, does not walk in the shadow of anyone in the backyards, and does not pursue a position of authority.

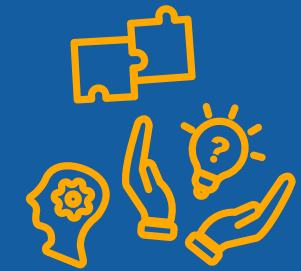

President General

Vision

TÜSÇAD Association aims to be a leading non-governmental organisation that aims to provide social benefit through sustainable projects at national and international level by supporting the development of young people in the fields of education, culture, arts and social responsibility. The primary vision of the association will be to expand the global perspective of young people through Erasmus+ projects, to establish international cooperation and to contribute to sustainable development goals.

Mission

TÜSÇAD Association organises training, cultural events, artistic activities and social responsibility projects to support the personal and professional development of young people and healthcare professionals. By participating in Erasmus+ projects, it has adopted the mission of providing international opportunities for young people, instilling sustainability awareness and enabling them to fulfil their social responsibilities. The association aims to support young people to have a global perspective through cultural exchange programmes, language learning opportunities, arts and sports activities. It also aims to raise awareness on issues such as health, environment and sustainability.
