

Hello everyone,

I am taking advantage of this website to present a little request.

I teach English in a high school in the north of France and we are willing to get an Erasmus accreditation. Therefore, I am looking for partners in Europe with students of about the same age group, that is to say from 15 to 18. The goal would be to start with teachers shadowing for the next school year, leading the following years (or earlier if possible) to common activities between our students. A colleague and I were thinking of organising a sort of drama club, in which students could create different sketches on topics such as inclusion and diversity, ecology, new technologies or citizenship. We can imagine our students coming to your school to perform their creations and vice versa and exchange on their different cultures and points of view .

This is just a working base of course, and it will evolve according to the needs and wishes of everyone.

Do not hesitate to contact me if ever you are interested in our project.

All the best to all,

Natacha.
