PROJECT IMPACT

The socially responsible initiative 'Academic Baby' is created and led by the non-governmental organisation Student Association of the University of Novi Sad.

The mission of the socially responsible initiative 'Academic Baby' is to provide temporary employment and humanitarian aid to student parents (including people with disabilities, Roma people and minorities) from higher education institutions in Novi Sad and across Serbia, as a vulnerable social group, and to contribute to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals — poverty reduction, quality education, and gender equality.

The vision is: the socially responsible initiative 'Academic Baby' as a support for the social inclusion of university student parents as a marginalized social group.

Through partnerships with reliable European and Erasmus partner programme non-governmental organizations working with youth, we strive to collaborate and develop EU projects for the Erasmus KA1, KA2, and KA3 funds, Creative Europe, and other available EU funds, thereby enabling the social inclusion of student parents as a marginalized social group through non-formal education, youth work, media literacy, environmental awareness, civic participation, social entrepreneurship, culture, and sports.
