- Outcomes: Future EVS volunteers will learn how to become non-formal teacher of languages.
- Target groups and beneficiaries: EVS volunteers will have a task to approach 3 different target groups:
 - 1) Kids from (0-18) – teaching languages by usage of hand craft
 - 2) Youth and adults (18 -50) – teaching languages using non formal methods of education
 - 3) Elderly (50+) – teaching languages by using e-learning methods

- Results: the main aim of the project is to train EVS volunteers and verify in practice their abilities. Learning of how to be language teacher using the whole range of methods, with underlining their non-formal character and use these skills and abilities gained during EVS stage is for volunteers a start to become more competitive at job market back home (after EVS) or in any other EU country. Project is addressed to young people with fewer opportunities on the basis of long term unemployment.
- Inspiration: project's idea is based on multilingualism as the languages have prior role for people to become competitive at job market – it is one of the cornerstone of EU strategies because lack of language skills is the main obstacle of getting a good job as well as prevents from better education outside of own country of residence. The project is also a part of MC strategy of creating career center for young people. Career center is the facility where not only young people can get advises of how to create own career but most of all how to get new skills and abilities needed to be competitive at job market – no matter country.
- Final materials: good practice guide with elements of diary – how to become non-formal teacher of languages 2015.
