

bsj marburg

bsj Marburg e.V. is a non-profit youth organisation that works with the physical aspects and potentials of life styles. Body, movement and physical expression are the foci of our social work programmes. Outdoor Adventure Education and experiential learning activities are central aspects of our working agenda.

Founded in 1986 bsj co-operates with the Department of Physical Education of the Philipps-University Marburg. The main focus groups in our leisure, school and vocational training programmes are male and female social disadvantaged adolescents. bsj is running three outdoor-centers and is working in social deprived areas, with institution of residential care, schools, projects of social work with youth at risk, in integration projects of handicapped and not handicapped young people. We intend to be an innovative and learning organisation.

Since 1996 bsj is member of EOE (European Institute for Outdoor Adventure Education and Experiential Learning).
