New Context

a Training for Trainers project

Olde Vechte Foundation is applying for a Youth Workers Mobility for people who want to improve their facilitation and training skills by creating meaningful activities with the usage of context.

Who?

Olde Vechte Foundation (synergytrainingsnl.com) has been functioning as a training center for informal learning in Ommen, the Netherlands since 1966. The training center is open to anyone who is motivated to improve personal and professional skills in order to create a better society and a higher quality of life. Throughout the last 50 years Olde Vechte Foundation is giving emphasis to experiential learning focusing in non-formal education pathways. One of the approaches of the foundation in trainer-ship is the significant usage of context in order to create and plan activities.

What?

New Context is a 3 steps projects starting in summer 2016 and finishing in autumn 2017 aiming to increase the capacity of organizations who are active in organizing and delivering training activities while bringing competences to trainers involved in them. Our aim is to raise awareness to the trainers regarding the fact that by creating different context you can create different activity.

For whom?

We are looking for partner organizations from programme countries only, who are interested to involve 1 or 2 members of the organization that are actively working into creating and delivering training activities and youth exchanges. The level of experience of the candidates should be that they work for at least 2 years actively with planning and delivering educational activities in a non formal education settings and they would be involved in such activities until summer 2017.
