About the project:

Organizations from Arab Mediterranean countries made significant progress in youth work, they have experience with the old programmes before Erasmus+ as well as the euromed youth program IV. But the Euromed program which is quite similar to youth in action before will end in June 2016, that's way this last Euro-med project will ensure to continuity of youth associations in South-Mediterranean countries (Region 3) work under ERASMUS +.

The project ICE<sup>2</sup> – International Cooperation Evolution aims to stimulate cooperation and international partnerships between youth organizations from Erasmus+ programme and the ones from the partner countries (South-Mediterranean countries Region 3) by offering a learning environment that will facilitate the exchange of knowledge, ideas and good practices, as well as the development of new mobility projects together in the future.

The objectives of ICE<sup>2</sup> are:

- To promote cooperation in youth work at international level by exchanging knowledge, ideas and good practices on the whole duration of the project, in the light of openness and tolerance
- To sketch minimum 05 to 10 ideas of future Erasmus+ projects through brainstorming and group work of the participants and to develop them at the time of the activities, to be applied at various National Agencies, depending on the availability of the partners involved (the 26 of April 2016 and third deadline October 4, 2016).
- To use the already created online resources by all the partner organization but not only: Facebook group (for real-time communication); Wordpress blog (to publish tailored relevant information, at all stages of the project); Google Drive database (to transfer know-how about methods, ideas for activities, common sketching of projects).

This mobility is a contact making seminar for partnership building which will take place in Nabeul, Tunisia, between 17 and 23 April 2016, bringing together 24 participants which will represent organizations from 10 countries: Romania, Spain, Belgium, Morocco, Tunisia, and Egypt. The methods applied in the two mobility of ICE are: integrative (stimulating the group cohesion), creative (stimulating the artistic sense and non-formal expression), open space (stimulating free and voluntary expression of the participants), debate (stimulating the constructive exchange of ideas and arguments), learning by doing (stimulating the capacity of the participants to manage real-life situations), reflection and self-reflection (stimulating a better awareness of the participants towards the learning process), evaluation (stimulating the participants to give feedback).

Local context

Nabeul (Arabic: نابول, Tunisian pronunciation: [ˈnɛːbɪl]; French: [naˈbøʎ]) is a coastal town in northeastern Tunisia, on the south coast near to the Cap Bon peninsula. It is located at around 36°27'N 10°44'E and is the capital of the Nabeul Governorate. The city has a population of 56,387 (2004 census).

Nabeul was founded in the 5th century BC by the Greeks of Cyrene, serving as a trade port. Its name is an Arabised form of the Greek Neapolis 'new city' (an etymology it shares with Naples, Neapoli, and Nablus).

It is a popular tourist destination and the main centre of the Tunisian pottery industry.

Nabeul is a small city of just about 60,000 people (probably a few thousand less) and is a place that many visitors will find themselves during a visit to Tunisia. Nabeul is also the main administrative centre of the governorate of Nabeul and an area that includes a large piece of the Cap Bon region and the major tourist area of Hammamet, which ihas increasingly become more famous than Nabeul itself.

when you drive to Nabuel from Hammamet, you can see the numerous travel agencies and hotels on the road and this tells you that this is one of the main administrative centres for tourism in Tunisia, although the concentration of hotels and restaurants reduces as you get the Nabeul itself as this is very much a working town as well as a touristic one.
