Wojewódzka Komenda OHP at Toruń

Hosting organizations: Hufiec Pracy at Włocławek (Voluntary Labour Corps)

The Voluntary Labour Corps (OHP) is a state organization, the key functions of which include:

- actions intended to support the system of education through social, occupational, and economic activation of young people,
- actions that are supposed to improve vocational qualifications of people or to retrain them,
- backing any initiatives intended to counteract unemployment and to nurture youths in the process of work performance, including employment process organization and organization of international co-operation between young people around the world.

The primary objective of OHP is to create adequate conditions for proper social and vocational development of young people, including special actions that are addressed to disfavoured young people who are supported by OHP and such support consists in organization of various forms of going out of poverty, unemployment, and social pathology effects.

Actions taken by OHP are addressed to the groups of young people aged 15-25 years.
