Tech change for African Digital Economy – women and youth

About

Program Overview

Expanding women's economic opportunities is fundamental to sustainable growth and building more equitable societies. The Women's and youth Enterprise for Sustainability African Digital Economy program empowers women-led organizations in Africa to operate centers as social enterprises. Through these centers, aspiring and established women entrepreneurs gain new skills and networks, launch and expand businesses, and develop as innovative leaders in their communities.

African digital economy for women and youth

What does we do?

Build the entrepreneurialism and sustainability of local civil society organizations

Develop a network of women entrepreneurs with leadership and practical skills to actively contribute to shaping the future of their country in digital economy

African digital economy aims to train women and youth entrepreneurs in Africa

African digital economy Approach

Strengthen Women- youth Led Organizations

African digital economy provides training and support to eight partner organizations, enabling them to operate centers using business model. A team of trainers at each center are equipped to deliver curricula including leadership, entrepreneurship, social media, home-based business and e-commerce. By charging nominal fees for workshops, organizations increase their own sustainability and reach, while supporting women entrepreneurs in their communities.

Access to Training, Networks and Finance

Through centers, aspiring and established women entrepreneurs access affordable training, coaching and financial services enabling them to launch and grow businesses. graduates form networks committed to sharing resources, creating strategic alliances and advancing professional opportunities for women and youth entrepreneurs.

African digital economy is designed by the website worldpublishersnews.com and alnaasher.com , Center for Women's Leadership Initiatives in Cairo, African digital economy is implemented in collaboration with eight partner organizations across Africa.
