Project duration: 1 February 2023 – 31 January 2024

Planned dates of the advance planning visit: 30-31 March 2023

Planned dates of the youth exchange: 16-23 June 2023

Venue: Agárd, Hungary (at the Lake Velencei)

Brief description:

Othering is a phenomenon in which some individuals or groups are defined and labelled as not fitting in within the norms of a social group. It is an effect that influences how people perceive and treat those who are viewed as being part of the in-group versus those who are seen as being part of the out-group. This youth exchange is aiming at to understand the issue of othering and foster to develop a more inclusive attitude to others among youth. The programme is based on non-formal education and active participation of young people.

Objectives:

- To support youth in learning about the phenomenon of othering, its methods and impacts on the society
- To develop an active and proactive attitude about social issues, understand the difference between assimilation and inclusion
- To act against exclusion and persecution with digital and online campaigns
- To strengthen European identity, improve intercultural awareness, openness and initiative

Participants' profile:

- Aged between 18-30
- At least conversational level of English
- Have a strong interest in social issues, may be affected by them
- May have disadvantaged background: persons with disabilities, economic difficulties, learning problems, young people from less developed rural regions
- Open to new experiences, cultures and people, respect their peers, have proactive attitude

Partners' profile and responsibilities:
