KA153 Mobility of Youth Workers Project
Training Course

We have 2 problems

Increasing rates of youth unemployment

Due to the rapid increase in the world population and the limited economic, educational, and geographic opportunities of young people, youth unemployment is an important problem in many countries of the world. The unemployment of young people causes them to suffer both financially and psychologically.

Therefore,

- more employment opportunities should be created for young people,
- they should be encouraged in the field of entrepreneurship,
- they should gain new skills and competencies in line with their needs

Lack of interest in local cultures

Youngsters do not know enough about their local culture and they are gradually distancing from these values. So, we are faced with the danger that these cultural values will disappear over time. For this reason, it is really important to protect local cultural values and transfer them to future generations.

YOUTH COMMUNITY

A woman with long blonde hair and a man, both wearing straw hats, are focused on their craft. The woman is in the foreground, her hands shaping a piece of clay on a pottery wheel. The man is slightly behind her, also working on a piece of pottery. The background is a soft-focus outdoor setting with green foliage.

Our project entitled “Intergenerational Transfer of Traditional Productions” is a training course about finding new ways of entrepreneurship through introducing local cultural production methods in order to get over the difficulties of unemployment.

It will help you...

- explore new ways of entrepreneurship
- explore other cultures and their values
- learn through intercultural communication
- develop new entrepreneurial ideas
- discover other ways of making your living rather than boring jobs

About the Venue

“Entrepreneurial Ideas: Intergenerational Transfer of Traditional Productions”

training course will take place in the historical and beautiful city of Antakya which is central city of Hatay province.

Hatay, also called Antakya, is the southernmost city of Turkey and neighbors to the Mediterranean Sea. Hatay is a culturally diverse city and attracts more than half a million local and international tourists annually. Its history dates back to ancient civilizations with remarkable monuments all around. Hatay's spectacular cuisine shines with its uniqueness, attracting all food lovers.

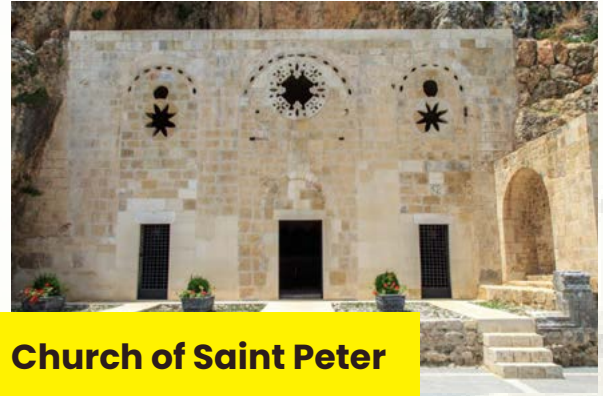

Places to Visit in Antakya

Hatay Archaeology Museum

Hatay Archaeology Museum is home to an extensive mosaic collection of Roman and Byzantine periods. There are marvelous depictions of nature and human life in various forms from different periods.

Church of Saint Peter

Church of Saint Peter is one of the first churches of Christianity and some argue that the church was used by the first Christians. The church used to be hidden in a cave because during its first years Christians were had to worship in secrecy.

Habib Neccar Mosque

Habib Neccar Mosque built in the 7th century and known as the first mosque in Anatolia. The mosque has great importance to Muslims all over the world as well as to the Christians due to Habib Neccar's religious acceptance.

Old Antakya Streets

Old Antakya is the historic center of the city. There are many old houses and traditional shops in Old Antakya. Although the neighborhood is swarming with tourists, Old Antakya is still home to many locals.

Places to Visit in Antakya

Harbiye Waterfalls

The waterfalls, which draw visitors especially in the summer months, were believed to be the tears of the water fairy Daphne in classical mythology and were a promenade for the rich in the Roman era.

Long Bazaar

Long Bazaar is located just at the heart of the city and offers wide variety of local and traditional products. This historical bazaar is the place where locals live daily life. Also many famous local and traditional restaurants located at the narrow streets of this place.

Places in Antakya

Antakya offers pleasant days and nights to its visitors. Many of the coffee shops, restaurants and pubs are located in the old city center. They offer a great mixture of tasty food and live music.

How to Get to The City Center?

Hatay
Airport

From the Hatay airport, you need to take the bus called HAVAŞ. There are two lines: one goes to Iskenderun, and the other one goes to Antakya. You should take the one that goes to Antakya and get off the bus at the last stop called Sümerler Maksim.

The ticket costs 40 Turkish Lira (around 2,5 Euro). Please don't forget to keep you receipts. Because your tickets can be refunded only if you provide the receipts!

We will be waiting for you at the bus stop and take you to the hotel.
